said one smiling official to another. Even Diana, cold as she looked in her nudity, appeared to beam with pleasure from her high place on the tower, for the clear sky and crisp air were full of promise for this the third day of the greatest horse-show America

In the ring the grooms were having a little show of their own before the doors were opened to the general public, and as they spirits in shouts of giee.

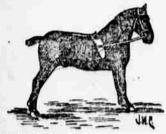

MISS ROSEMARIE'S PONY TRAP. The grooms were not the first to occupy the ring, however. As early as 6.30 octock this morning Mr. Eugene Higgins was guiding an imposing four-in-hand around the tanbark inclosure, and he was followed by other gentlemen who had hurried away from home to spend a tew minutes with their pets before going down to business.

There was a lobby full of such enthusiasts about the big iron gates waiting for the foket-takers to take their places when the lock marked the hour of 9. As soon as they are seen taking in a knowing manner with the grooms in the horse quarters down in the assement.

APPINING THE BLUE BURBON. From 0 until 0.45 A. M. was set apart for the exercise of saudie horses, hunters, cobs and ponies under saudie in the ring. It brought out a tine collection of animals, and the laterest of the occasion was heightened by the practice of S. S. Howland's crack jumper Ontario and his stable companion Backus.

BLOODGOOD HACKNEY STALLION STAR OF

Ontario is getting limbered up, and his jump of 6 feet this morning was taken as an indication that he would soon be up to the form which has made him hamous. Backus as the form which has made him hamous. Backus as the form which has made him hamous. Backus as the form which has made him hamous. Backus Buckshof, and Mrs. Beach, as a Kentucky-bred mount, attracted not a little attention. Capt. Adan Howland's Her Grace and the beauty Majir also came in for a snare of the admiration.

Mr. Charles F. Bates drove into the ring with four bars, whose style and action were the subject of much invorable comment. The four-year-old bay trotter. King Darlington, was much atmired as he moved gracefully about drawing a light road wagon.

This was the programme prepared for today:

PLYMOUTH, N. H., Nov. 18.—A surging crowd again besieged the doors of the little court-house where Murderer Frank Almy's case is on this morning long before they were opened, and the court-room was packed as on yesterday.

Aimy, who passed a sleepless night, was brought loto court promptly at 0 o'clock, showing every evidence of the strain through which he is passing, and looking dejected.

Mr. Storey opened the argument for the defense. He said the respondent was a man of a good deal of passion and high feeling.

In represented Almy at the time of his murder of Christic Warden as in a half-starved condition with an irresponsible turn of mind, caused by disappointment in his sout for the hand of the girl he killed.

The Decision in the Haring Case and Its Probable Effect.

HILLTOP FOLKS COMPLACENT.

A Large Crowd Sees Racing on a Mud-Covered Track.

The decision in the Haring case, for which the managers of the Monmouth Park, Linden, Elizabeth and Clifton jokey clubs have local sentiment is against it, unless the Legis-lature should adopt some such measure as the Ives Pool bill during the coming seasion.

An explanatory paragraph regarding the Haring case may not be out of place. In 1887 the New Jersey Legislature passed an act making betting on horse races lawful in all purposes save in a civil suit, when it shall be deemed unlawful. The act was amendatory to another act. The people who drew up the amendment were either ignorant or intended could be divined, for they neglected to quote by quoting the original act in full. The amendment simply referred to the title of the act and was rushed through the Legislature The racing associations carried on their business openly, and the authorities made no pus in New Jersey. Then they awoke to the fact that the law of 1887 was unconstituof Paterson, N. J., was indicted for spli-ing pools on the Clifton races the State

Prosecutor raised the above point. The Supreme Court also took this view of the matter and Haring was convicted. He the matter and Haring was convicted. He paid a fine of $400. The racing associations knowing that their only chance lay in proving the constitutionality of the law of 1887 took up Haring's case, employed able counsel and went with it to the Court of Appeals. The case strung out for hearly a year, with the result as announced in the first paragraph of this column. There is no getting away from the fact that the law is unconstitutional and that healther on horse races in New Jersey is
